DEFINITION OF ABUSE

Children and Young People

Physical Abuse may involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning, or scalding, drowning, suffocating, female genital mutilation or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent or carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces, illness in a child.

Emotional Abuse is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to children that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only so far as they meet the needs of another person. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond the child's developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying, causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone.

Sexual Abuse involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, including prostitution, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including penetrative (e.g., rape, buggery or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts (fondling). They may include noncontact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in production of, sexual on-line images, watching sexual activities, or encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways.

Neglect is the persistent failure to meet a child's basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child's health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. Once a child is born it may involve a parent failing to:

- Provide adequate food, clothing, and shelter (including exclusion from home or abandonment)
- Protect a child from physical or emotional harm or danger
- Ensure adequate supervision (including the use of inadequate caregivers)
- Ensure access to appropriate medical care or treatment
- It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child's basic emotional needs.

Significant Harm some children are in need because they are suffering or likely to suffer significant harm. The Children Act 1989 introduced the concept of significant harm as the threshold that justifies compulsory intervention in family life in the best interests of children.

Vulnerable Adults

Physical Abuse This includes hitting, slapping, pushing, kicking, rough handling or unnecessary physical force either deliberate or unintentional, misuse of medication, restraint, or inappropriate sanctions.

Sexual Abuse This includes rape and sexual assault or sexual acts to which the vulnerable adult has not consented, or could not consent to, or was pressured into consenting. Sexual abuse can occur between people of the same sex, and it can also occur within a marriage or any long-term relationship. A relationship of trust should exist between a member of staff or a volunteer and the person for whom they are caring; it would be seen as a betrayal of that trust, and therefore abusive, for that member of staff or volunteer to have a sexual relationship with the person they are caring for.

Psychological Abuse This includes emotional abuse, threats of harm or abandonment, deprivation of contact, humiliation, blaming, controlling, intimidation, coercion, harassment, verbal abuse, isolation or withdrawal from services or supportive networks.

Financial or Material Abuse This includes theft, fraud, exploitation, pressure in connection with wills, property, enduring power of attorney, or inheritance or financial transactions, or the inappropriate use, misuse or misappropriation of property, possessions, or benefits.

Neglect and Acts of Omission This includes ignoring or withholding medical or physical care needs, failure to provide access to appropriate health, social care or educational services, the withholding of the necessities of life, such as medication, adequate nutrition, clothing, and heating.

Discriminatory Abuse This includes racist, sexist, or other forms that are based on a person's disability and other forms of harassment, or similar treatment.

Self-Neglect this is not a direct form of abuse, but all staff need to be aware of it in the general context of risk assessment/risk management and to be aware that they may owe a duty of care to a vulnerable individual who places him/herself at risk in this way.

SAFEGUARDING CHILDREN AND VULNERABLE ADULTS' PROCEDURES AND GUIDELINES

The purpose of these guidelines is to ensure that the rights of a young person or vulnerable adult are protected through staff awareness of the issues and the following of the statutory and local guidelines in the reporting of concerns.

Summit Groomer Training Group will take steps to identify vulnerable young people and adults on admission to a course. Trainers will be informed, as part of the admissions procedures, if vulnerable young people or adults have been enrolled on their courses.

Additional supervision measures will be put in place for all learners defined as vulnerable and such learners will come under the provisions of this policy.

ADVICE TO STAFF ON WHEN TO TAKE ACTION AND HOW

Young people and vulnerable adults can be potentially abused within the family, community, organisations by employees (including those employed to promote their welfare and protection from abuse), visitors and volunteers.

It is the responsibility of all staff working within Summit Groomer Training Group to record and refer concerns regarding the safeguarding of young people and vulnerable adults even if they are just suspicions or overheard rumours, but not to discuss it with anyone other than one of the designated officers.

If a young person or vulnerable adult comes to you with a report of apparent abuse or a concern over radicalisation or extremism, you should listen carefully to him/her, using the following guidelines. When listening staff must:

- Allow them to speak without interruption
- Never trivialise or exaggerate the issue
- Never make suggestions
- Never coach or lead them in anyway
- Reassure them, let them know you are glad they have spoken up and that they are right to do so
- Always ask enough questions to clarify your understanding, do not probe or interrogate –no matter how well you know the young person or vulnerable adult– spare them having to repeat themselves over and over
- Be honest – let the young person or vulnerable adult know that you cannot keep this a secret; you will need to tell someone else
- Try to remain calm – remember this is not an easy thing for them to do
- Do not show your emotions – if you show anger, disgust, or disbelief, they may stop talking. This may be because they feel they are upsetting you or they may feel your negative feelings are directed towards them
- Let the young person or vulnerable adult know that you are taking the matter very seriously
- Make the young person or vulnerable adult feel secure and safe without causing them any further anxiety

Once you suspect any abuse or extremism / radicalisation you should immediately (within a maximum of two hours) contact a designated officer either in person or by telephone outlining what has been disclosed, what you have overheard or your suspicions. You should also contact them if you know or suspect that a member of staff or student has a previous history of abuse of children, young people, or vulnerable adults.

If a designated officer cannot be contacted within two hours of the initial concern, the person making the report should refer the matter to a member of the senior management team.

With regard to young people, the designated officer must discuss the matter with the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO), who will determine if it is a safeguarding matter. If it is a safeguarding matter, Social Services will take control of the situation, including such things as whether to inform parents/carers.

With regard to vulnerable adults, if it is decided by the designated officer that further action should be taken, they may:

- Seek further advice from the LADO
- Make a referral to Social Services
- Report the matter to the police if a crime is suspected

Summit Groomer Training Group' designated officer will ask the referring member of staff to produce a full written record within 24 hours, which should:

- Include the name and position of the person who reported the matter
- Identify if the matter is a direct disclosure from a young person or vulnerable adult, a suspicion, or an overheard conversation
- Provide a factual account of what has been overheard or what has been disclosed, including any questions they needed to ask to clarify understanding
- Contain as much detail as possible, including observations (including physical signs of apparent abuse). It must not include opinions or personal interpretation of the facts
- Be signed, dated, and given to the designated officer who will store it in a secure place.

Detailed information about a case will be confined to the safeguarding team (detailed below), the Centre Manager and (if not implicated), parents/carers.

The reporting member of staff will be kept informed on the progress of the case on a 'need to know' basis only.

In cases where a child, young person or vulnerable adult discloses suspected or actual Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), this will be reported directly to police.

CONFIDENTIALITY

Confidentiality and trust should be maintained as far as possible. The degree of confidentiality will be governed by the need to protect the young person or vulnerable adult who is always the primary concern. The young person or vulnerable adult must at the earliest opportunity in the disclosure be informed of the need to pass information on.

All conversations regarding a vulnerable adult should be held in private.

Summit Groomer Training Group complies with the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998, and Data Protection (Amendment) Act 2003 which allows for disclosure of personal data where this is necessary to protect the vital interests of a vulnerable adult.

In all cases the main restrictions on disclosure of information are:

- Common Law duty of confidence
- Human Rights Act 1998
- Data Protection Act 1998 and Data Protection (Amendment) Act 2003

Each of these has to be considered separately. Other statutory provisions may also be relevant, but in general, legislation does not prevent sharing of information if:

- Those likely to be affected consent; or
- The public interest in safeguarding the child's welfare overrides the need to keep the information confidential; or
- Disclosure is required under court order or other legal obligation.

Whatever happens, you should always be open and honest with the young person or vulnerable adult if you intend to take the case further.

The member of staff reporting a disclosure, suspicion of abuse/ neglect or overheard rumours of abuse/neglect must not discuss the case with anyone other than a designated officer.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST A MEMBER OF STAFF

The primary concern of Summit Groomer Training Group is to ensure the safety of the young person or vulnerable adult. It is essential in all cases of suspected abuse by a member staff that action is taken quickly and professionally.

Whatever the validity, Summit Groomer Training Group designated officers will work in conjunction with the LADO to ensure that even apparently less serious allegations are seen to be followed up and examined objectively by someone independent of Summit Groomer Training Group.

Where the designated officer considers that a concern or allegation indicates that a member of staff has behaved in a way that has harmed or may have harmed a young person or vulnerable adult, or possibly committed a criminal offence against or related to a child, young person or vulnerable adult; or behaved towards a young person or vulnerable adult in a way that indicates s/he is unsuitable to work with them then a discussion will always take place with the LADO.

The term 'member of staff' applies to all contracted personnel within Summit Groomer Training Group, volunteers and people employed by other agencies that are providing services for Summit Groomer Training Group.

In the event that any member of staff suspects any other member of staff of abusing a student, it is their responsibility to bring these concerns to the Centre Manager and a designated officer, except where the suspect is either of the aforementioned.

If the allegation concerns the Centre Manager, the matter should be discussed with one of the designated officers, who will call an emergency meeting of the safeguarding team. Normal procedures for Child and Vulnerable Adult Protection will be followed.

If the allegation concerns all of the designated officers, the matter should be discussed with the Centre Manager, who will follow the normal procedure for Child and Vulnerable Adult Protection as outlined previously.

If it is determined that there is no cause to suspect significant harm, but a criminal offence might have been committed, they will immediately inform the police and a similar discussion will take place with the designated officer being asked to represent Summit Groomer Training Group.

MANAGING ALLEGATIONS AGAINST OTHER LEARNERS

When an allegation made by one learner against another raises safeguarding concerns, standard safeguarding processes will be followed by the DSO and any other staff involved.

The DSO will need to involve the LADO, as social services may already be aware of safeguarding concerns relating to the individuals concerned.

If a potential criminal offence has taken place, the police should be informed at the earliest opportunity. If appropriate, parents/carers will be informed. It may be appropriate to suspend the student who is being complained about for a period of time whilst the investigation is conducted.

If the complaint is not accepted by the police or social services, the DSO will still conduct a thorough investigation into the complaint. If it is decided that a safeguarding risk is present, a risk assessment will be prepared along with a robust monitoring plan. This plan will be monitored, and dates set for reviews with everyone concerned.

TYPE OF INVESTIGATIONS

Criminal Investigations - If a crime is suspected, an investigation will not be carried out by Summit Groomer Training Group, other than to establish the facts. All the information obtained will be handed over to the police who will carry out any investigation necessary, with the support of Summit Groomer Training Group.

Disciplinary Investigations - If a decision is made to pursue an allegation of abuse against a member of staff, this will be dealt with under Summit Groomer Training Group's disciplinary policy, in addition to other safeguarding processes.

Summit Groomer Training Group may be unable to carry out any disciplinary proceedings until the police investigation is complete, but depending on the seriousness of the allegation, the member of staff may be suspended from work with pay until the investigation is completed.

SUMMIT GROOMER TRAINING GROUP'S RESPONSIBILITIES TO STAFF FOLLOWING AN ALLEGATION

Any member of staff who is accused of a breach of the code may be subject to disciplinary procedure.

Where an allegation from a Young Person or Vulnerable Adult occurs, an investigation will be carried out in accordance with the procedures set out above. The investigating officer will be required to liaise with the designated officer to clarify whether there are any relevant records or relevant information in relation to the individual.

Summit Groomer Training Group should inform the accused member of staff as soon as possible after initial consultation has taken place. However, this should not be before a discussion with the LADO or police, if needed, has taken place and agreement has been reached as to what information can be disclosed to the member of staff.

The member of staff should be advised to:

- Keep records of all conversations, meetings attended, letters received and telephone calls relating to the allegation.

Whilst the case is ongoing, Summit Groomer Training Group must arrange to provide appropriate support to the member of staff.

Where it is subsequently found that an allegation has been made maliciously, Summit Groomer Training Group may refer the matter to be dealt with under HR disciplinary procedures.

Summit Groomer Training Group may also take the decision to pursue an allegation of abuse through the disciplinary procedure. Discussion should be held with the relevant local agencies involved to ensure that their investigation is not compromised by doing so. Employees should only be suspended following careful consideration.

If the accused member of staff tenders their resignation or ceases to provide their services, the allegation must continue to be investigated in accordance with the procedures. Compromise agreements by which a person agrees to resign or Summit Groomer Training Group agrees not to pursue the disciplinary action must not be used in these cases.

Every effort must be made to maintain confidentiality and guard against publicity whilst the allegation is being investigated.

RECORD KEEPING AND TIMEKEEPING

Summit Groomer Training Group will keep clear and comprehensive records of any allegations made, details of how the allegation was followed up and resolved, as well as details of any actions taken, and decisions reached. These will be placed indefinitely on a staff members confidential personnel file.

In the interests of all parties, it is important to resolve cases as quickly as possible whilst ensuring a consistent, fair, and thorough investigation.

This policy will be reviewed annually by the senior management team.

SAFEGUARDING CODE OF BEHAVIOUR AND CONDUCT

Summit Groomer Training Group recognises that it is not practical to provide definitive instructions that would always apply to all situations whereby staff come into contact with young people and vulnerable adults, and to guarantee the protection of young people, vulnerable adults and staff. However, the appended Safeguarding Code of Conduct sets out the standards of behaviour required of staff in order to fulfil their roles within Summit Groomer Training Group. This code should assist in the protection of children, vulnerable adults, and members of staff, and should be fully understood by all staff. The code applies to all staff including unpaid volunteers and apprentices working at Summit Groomer Training Group.
